CONFERENCE CONCEPT NOTE:

Today there is an emerging international trend in business reporting where a few innovative companies in different countries and industries have looked beyond separate reports for financial and nonfinancial results, integrating this information into a single document referred to as "One Report." One Report serves as a means of reporting financial and nonfinancial information in a way that reveals their impact on each other, answering a fundamental question: Just how does nonfinancial performance contribute to financial performance, and vice versa? Integrated reporting has rapidly gained considerable prominence since the formation in 2010 of the International Integrated Reporting Committee (IIRC – subsequently renamed the International Integrated Reporting Council).

Integrated Reporting is new area of reporting policy and practice that is holistic, strategic, responsive, material and relevant across multiple time frames. It represents a journey to more meaningful reporting that is instrumental for all reporting organizations.

In India, today there is a great momentum behind this concept of Integrated Reporting including immense local regulatory reforms on the agenda in corporate reporting communications. As such there are nascent opportunities for Integrated Reporting to guide the future of reporting in India.

It has the potential to significantly change how companies and organizations operate, how the investors think, thereby shifting the focus from meeting short-term financial goals to developing long term business strategies making commitments to CSR and sustainable society. It is poised to be an evolution of mainstream reporting, and represents an opportunity for improving transparency, governance and decision making for organizations of all types.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE:

- To strengthen the vision and understanding of Integrated Reporting.
- To create a platform for constructive dialogue on recent trends and innovative approaches in Integrated Reporting.
- To foster integrated thinking in Organizations.
- To encourage all conference delegates to make a commitment in their respective spheres to act, building upon evidence and knowledge shared and generated at the conference.
