1.4.2 Feedback System of the institution

Stakeholders Feedback for the Academic Year 2021–2022

Stakeholder	Suggestions	Action Taken
Alumni	Adequate programme diversity encourages students to enroll in professional courses, and courses must also be industry-relevant.	A task force is established to investigate the viability of implementing diversity programmes in accordance with the NEP.
Employer	Skill-based courses, including soft skills and current topics, are highly recommended for employment.	Encourage students to participate in projects/internships and to enrol in various subjects through the MOOCs platform.
Faculty	Increase competitiveness by exploring and inviting academia-industry collaboration.	Inviting the MoUs with nation importance institution and corporate organisations
Parents	Increase the variety of programmes available at the institution, particularly for students with family business backgrounds. Provide skill-based mandatory courses in accordance with the NEP curriculum.	The syllabus was revised to reflect the most recent developments in the field.
Students	Enhance the use of e-resources by creating opportunities for research and publication.	The CIA work has been assigned based on the use of e-resources. The number of value-added courses has increased. Students were given the opportunity to participate in the research, and the department was able to assist in the publishing of the ISBN book.
